Party Frocks For the Holidays

may be demure and soft, or they may be of taffeta, perky and rather mischievous-looking, but they should always be youthfully styled and suitable for their blossoming wearers.

A frock of crepe de chine - $17.44 has most intriguing roses all around its skirt, of crisp up-standing ribbons, and where the semi-yoke effect of the blouse and the tiny fluttering sleeves meet these same ribbons tie themselves into shoulder bows. Ribbons, too, tie the sides of the dress under the arms, and result in a dress that would create a mild sensation in any dancing class. In white orchid, pink or turquoise.

A dress of iridescent taffeta - $15.74 has a tunningly plain bodice with little puffed sleeves, and a very full skirt shirred on to it. Pinked ruffling of self material trims sleeves, neck and skirt, while a narrow ribbon of self color and gold winds its pretty way around the waist to end in a nosegay of silk flowers. With its lovely shimmering, changeable hues this frock wins approval because of its quaintness.
